"Little Leaguers" End Season With Banquet

The first annual "Little League" baseball season came to an official close on Friday, Dec. 6, at a banquet held for 70 boys, their fathers and members of the Kinsmen Club. The evening opened with O'Canada and grace was given by Mr. Fred Rodway.

While the food was being served Kinsmen president, Mr. Spencer Warren, introduced the guests and other dignitaries.

Following the turkey supper Mrs. Ken Waugh, in a few well chosen words presented to League Commissioner, George Wilkins, the "Little League Trophy" which she and Mr. Waugh had donated to the league.

Mr. Wilkins thanked Mrs. Waugh for the interest they had shown in the junior baseball in Didsbury. Jake Dick was then called upon, as captain of Rodway's Dynamos, to accept the trophy on behalf of the top team in this year's league play.

Other teams which were in competition for the trophy included Midway Millionaires, coached by John Holub; Western Warriors, with Glen Roberts at the helm; Lloyd Devine's Rockets, with the water commissioner handling the main valve.

Other members of the Kinsmen who assisted the coaches also deserve a great deal of credit for their fine work during the past season.

Following a round of applause, Mr. Bert Olson showed films of interest to both fathers and sons. Following this the president thanked the fathers for a collection that was taken up during the evening, instigated by Mr. Jock Shannon, and mentioned that the money would be used for the kids' playground project.

Pioneer Merchant Passes Away

One of Didsbury's pioneer merchants, Mr. John Valentine Berchelt, passed away at his home here on Sunday at the age of 85 years. Mr. Berchelt came to Didsbury in 1903 and made his home here until his death.

Mr. Berchelt, who was born in Wellesley, Ont., on November 6th, 1892 came to this town with his wife in 1903, and first made shoes here, later establishing a shoe store and then expanding into the men's clothing business with his sons.

Mr. Berchelt had learned the shoe-making business after leaving school, then managed a shoe store in Midland, Ont. for three years before going into business for himself. In 1900 he married Annie C. Loeisner.

He was a charter member of the Didsbury Evangelical Church; a life member of the Canadian Order of Foresters; with a 60-year pin in that organization. He also served on the town council and school board and for many years was manager of the Didsbury agricultural fair, as well as being secretary of the cemetery board since 1914.

He was also secretary-treasurer of the local Evangelical Church and had been active in soccer football in the earlier days and was a keen sports fan.

Rambler Hockey Team Move In

Didsbury Rammers, after just one practice session, moved into Olds on Saturday night and knocked off the wee town's entry in the Chinook League by a 7-3 score.

Reports have it that things got a little rough in the second period and some Olds players were assisted to the dressing room. Not a good way to start the season and it is hoped the lads on both sides will pay more attention to hockey when the regular league schedule opens later in the month.

Regardless of the score, or the encounters that took place, it is a foregone conclusion that rivalry will be keen any time these two clubs meet during the regular season.

On Saturday night Bruce Neufeld plunked two into the net for the locals, with Doug Kemp, Wayne Shantz, Don Irwin, Miller McCoy and Leonard Neufeld adding singletons.

ZELLA NEWS NOTES

Hail Suppression Association Make Plans For Next Year

At a general meeting called by the Mountain View Hail Suppression Association here last week, the Lions Hall was packed and overflowing as interested ratepayers were on hand to hear the prog and cons on the operations of W.R.D.C.

the hail suppression organization that had operated in this area for the past two years.

Chairman of the meeting was Mr. T. Morris. Past performances and next year's proposed operations were thoroughly discussed. Questions were asked from the floor throughout the meeting and a good deal of interest was shown by all those present. As usual, there were those for and against the project.

It came up that it now appears that very few spots within the target area will qualify for P.F.A.A. assistance this year.

Some queries were made as to whether improvements or changes were planned for next year. The suggestions came in three parts:

(1) Look-out points will be set up in the mountainous areas to the west.

(2) Increased number of generators in the extreme west.

(3) Use of aircraft.

It was mentioned that if a generator breaks down it doesn't mean that the whole system, or that particular area, is not covered. There will be others within the area to take up the slack.

The meeting was asked how many present would be in favor of renewing the contract for the coming crop season; the great majority were in favor of another lease. A motion was passed to have the same area as last year included in the vote.

Mr. W. R. Conner, W.R.D.C. representative spoke for the company and informed the meeting that a kick-back would be given to a total loss on a quarter section basis. More details on this phase of the project will appear in these columns in the near future. The above offer is being made by the hail suppression firm due to the confidence it has in its past performances in this area.

The effect of radiation is in proportion to the period of exposure. Limit your exposure to it. You can limit exposure by staying in an adequate shelter. Several feet of earth or concrete will provide excellent shielding from radiation. The walls of an ordinary frame house give some protection.

You can also limit exposure by getting away from the source of radiation. Radiation is absorbed in the air and is significantly reduced a few hundred feet from the source.

How Will I Know If Fallout is Coming? In the event of an enemy attack, Civil Defence officials and other authorities will issue instructions by all available means of communication. Later you will receive information based on the findings of aerial and ground monitors who will conduct surveys in the areas involved. The monitors will measure the radiation from the fallout with instruments, to determine what further precautions, if any, should be taken.

REMEMBER - Fallout is odorless and may be invisible. It can be measured only with proper instruments. However, after an atomic attack, dust clouds or unusual dust concentrations in the atmosphere should be assumed to be radioactive until they have been officially surveyed with instruments and found not to be radioactive.

Second In A Series On Civil Defence

What Is Fallout ???

The following is the second in a series of articles which will appear in these columns during the next few weeks, and which are published as a public service by this newspaper.

The explosion of an atomic or hydrogen bomb is accompanied by Blast, Heat, Initial Radiation and Residual Radiation. The first three occur almost instantaneously with the explosion and are destructive at the target area and a delayed and longer effect and may be dangerous over a considerably larger area.

WHAT IS FALLOUT? Fallout is the term used to describe radioactive particles, produced by nuclear explosions, that fall to earth from the upper air. When the bomb explodes clouds of smoke and debris are drawn up into the ascending column. After mixing with the highly radioactive material, particles fall back to earth and produce radioactive contamination. Some of the particles fall close to the point of explosion, while others may drift downwind for many miles before settling to earth.

A bomb exploded high in the air does not produce immediate serious fallout because there is no heavy debris taken up into the cloud to bring the radioactive material down to earth. The radioactive particles tend to remain suspended for days, months or years in the upper atmosphere, where much of the radioactivity is lost harmlessly before settling to earth.

How Can I Protect My Family And Myself From Radiation? The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wahl, with Mrs. R. Barrett and Mrs. Ed Blain as co-hostesses.

Just For The Record . . .

Rumors again, but the grapevine tells us that insofar as town street lighting for Christmas is concerned we're going to be blacked out again, maybe more so than in previous years. A sad situation, no less. Is there no possibility of stringing lights between the new-fangled downtown lighting system? 'Twould be a good way to let people know there is a town between Carstairs and Olds!

And A Friendly Nod . . .

To the "Little Leaguers," and their sponsors, the Kinsmen, who wound up a very successful first year of operations at a banquet on Friday night. The Lions Club even got into the act when they held a panel discussion on the league at its regular meeting the previous evening. Rev. Ernie Clarke was the M.C. and the opinion of the panel was unanimously in favor of the league. Hats off, please, to the ball players and their backers. Let's give them better support next year.

Just For The Record . . .

We were wondering whether or not you had picked up your provincial government dividend for this year (if not, someone else probably has). They're closing the books come December 31st and when they do close them the cash box is going to be short many thousands of dollars, due to a number of nasty persons who stepped in and collected more than their share of the loot. They tell us the "game" will be played again next year under different rules, but the honest people will have to pay the shot for this year's mistakes. Sounds like good, solid Social Credit thinking — share the wealth!

Just For The Record . . .

And wasn't that a "pocket budget" the federal government threw our way last week. What most of us will save would certainly fit into a midget-size pocket.

And Another Joke . . .

"Can you remember when the only fallout we had to worry about was dandruff?"

"CAT AND MOUSE"

POLOITICS

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker touched on a painful truth in the House of Commons last week when he lauded the liberal opposition concerning their fear of an early election. "They criticize. They sneer. They scoff. And later tonight they'll be voting confidence in us. Everyone knows the answer. They're afraid to vote against us," he said.

The prime minister was equally devastating in his remarks about the C.C.F. "They pretend they are not afraid because they rely on the fact that the Liberal party is afraid."

Mr. Diefenbaker might have gone a little further in his remarks about the fears of political parties. As prime minister he is in an excellent position to call an election himself and end the stalemate in the federal house which is causing all our politicians to look a little foolish. The Conservatives, too, are afraid to precipitate an election at the present time.

These truths have not escaped the ordinary voter and the sparring in the federal parliament must ap-

The Liberals impress nobody but themselves with their carping criticism which they are not prepared to support with their votes.

Liberal inexperience in opposition and Conservative inexperience in government are running neck-and-neck today in Canada politics. This country will not progress very far until one or the other becomes properly adjusted to its new role — or the electorate is given another opportunity to vote into power a government with a clear majority.

FARMSTEAD SHELTERBELTS

There's an enjoyable, progressive way of planting your shelterbelts and it doesn't mean doing all the work in one year by yourself. Determine what is wanted and possible in the way of shelterbelts.

Set the best ideas down on graph paper, including present and prospective buildings drawn to scale. If your shelterbelt is to act as a snow trap it must be at least 100 feet from the nearest building. The most important sides of a shelterbelt are the north and west, as prevailing winds strike there.

A depth of two rows, preferably 3 or 4 is suggested, if room is available. If only 2 rows are planted you might consider a low growing hedge, such as caragana or willow, with the second row of a fast growing poplar.

Where you have room for 4 rows or more you would then be wise to include a row of slower growing maple, green ash or evergreen, preferably Colorado spruce. The spacing between the trees in the row will vary from 1 to 1½ feet for the caragana, 4 feet for willow and 6 to 8 feet for the larger trees.

You will be wise to allow plenty of space between the rows so that you can cultivate with the tractor and the regular field cultivator that you use. Rounded corners makes for easy cultivation. Having a plan will enable you to order the rooted trees well in advance and plant them over a period of years.

Don't forget that the ground you intend to use for shelterbelts must have been thoroughly summer-fallowed and cleaned up from weeds and perennial grasses before your order for trees will be approved.

Letter To The Editor

Editor, The Pioneer.

Dear Sir:

After your recent printing of a paragraph written in the Albertan about Elvis Presley's Christmas carols, I have decided to express my views. I am an average teenager and am of the belief that most teenagers share my opinion. I don't think Mr. Presley's songs are any more vulgar and demoralizing than some of the low cut sheath dresses that expose all that is possible and very sensually cover the rest, that modern women wear on the television programs that all youngsters so eagerly digest.

It is said that he went into one of his singing "bounces" when he recorded the carols. This is one statement that cannot be confirmed because he makes all his records in private with only his band, manager and a few friends present.

Many people say that it is changing teenagers' ideas of Christmas to hear his carols. I am the proud owner of his album of carols and listen to them frequently. My ideas of Christmas are not changed and will not change, no matter how many times I listen to the records. Christmas to me indicates the celebration of the birth of Jesus Christ and I dare say that is what it means to Elvis Presley. Also an old statement "Peace On Earth, Good Will Toward Men," includes Elvis Presley as well as any other person.

My opinion is that people should be more tolerant of others.

These are the viewpoints of a 14-year-old girl attending a small country school in the vicinity of Didsbury. Would you please print my letter in your worthy paper.

THE Homemakers

By HELEN HOWARD
District Home Economist

Holla Homemakers:-

The other day a load of Christmas evergreen trees came into town and it reminded me that very soon Christmas will be here.
For the next two or three weeks then we'll talk about Christmas — Christmas gifts, baking and decorating. Getting back to the Christmas trees for a minute, here's a test that may save you from buying a tree that is past its peak.

Put all the needles at the end of a branch. If they have a good resistance to being pulled off, the tree is relatively fresh. If the needles come off easily, the tree is dry and won't last long in your home.

After you have bought your tree put it into cold storage. Make a fresh cut from the trunk bottom.
Take off about an inch, sawing through at an angle. Set out end of tree in a pail of water and store in a cool place until you are ready to take it into the house.

Christmas cookies can be made now and frozen. Saves a lot of time when that busy holiday week rolls around:-

Walnut Seafoam Bars
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
1/2 cup light corn syrup
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon maple extract
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/3 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, unbeaten
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Sift flour and baking powder together. Work butter and sugar in a bowl until creamy; add flour and blend until mixture resembles coarse meal. Stir in 1/3 cup of the nuts, and press evenly over the bottom of a greased 12" by 7 1/2" by 2" baking dish.

Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg.
F., 15 minutes until light brown.

Meanwhile, make top layer, beat eggs till foamy, add next five ingredients, spread over hot layer, then sprinkle with two-thirds cup coarsely chopped walnuts. Bake 25 to 30 minutes longer. Cool in pans; cut into bars and remove from pan.
Makes 20.

Yuletide Almond Strips

Cookies:
1/2 cup soft butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/4 tsp. cup rolled oats

Topping:

1 egg white, slightly beaten
2 tbsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/3 cup ground almonds

Beat butter. Add sugar; beat well. Sift flour with salt; add to butter mixture. Blend in oats. Roll out on a lightly floured board to 1/8 inch thickness. Cut in strips 1 inch by 3 inches. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Brush each unbaked cookie lightly with egg white. Mix together sugar, cinnamon and ground almonds; — sprinkle on unbaked cookies. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 8 - 10 minutes.
Makes three dozen bars.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

God's healing and saving power will be emphasized at Christian Science Services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Deuterom-ony (32:27): "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms."

A number of experiences of the Apostle Paul are related in the Bible selections to be read which include Paul's healing (Acts 14) of the "men of Lystra, impotent in his feet, being a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (343:25): "Anciently those apostles who were Jesus' students, as well as Paul, who was not one of his students, healed the sick and reformed the sinner by their religion. Hence the mistake which allows words, rather than works, to follow such examples."

SAFEGUARDING ALBERTANS AGAINST FIRE WASTE

The Fire Commissioner is appointed by the Provincial Secretary. He is in charge of that Branch of the Department which administers the Fire Prevention Act and The Lightning Rod Act. The Fire Commissioner's Branch is well qualified in all phases of fire prevention and control. The inspection staff has experience and knowledge which is available to all Municipal Fire Chiefs throughout the province, if required. The assistance of the Department is especially beneficial to the volunteer fire brigades in smaller communities. The branch provides an educational program designed to familiarize firemen with the latest methods of fire fighting. Fire Prevention films are shown at meetings of interested local groups as well. Inspections of buildings are also regularly carried out in co-operation with the local fire department. Investigation into the origin and circumstances of fires frequently provides information which the Department finds valuable for fire prevention. Hospitals, schools and other public institutions are inspected for fire hazards and any necessary changes ordered for protection of life and property.

The proper means of storage and handling of explosives and flammable materials is also controlled. The public is the most important ally of the inspectors in their endeavour to reduce the incidence of fire. It is essential that individuals inspect their own property for fire hazards. The Department provides a safety check list for property owners who wish to make this inspection of their property. Use the coupon on this page to obtain your copy. Specify "Safety Check List". The Fire Commissioner and his staff stand ready to give advice and assistance in co-operation with the local fire department, to make your community as safe from fire as possible. The Public can do its part by using this assistance to maximum advantage.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Rev. Bob Simpson was in the classroom again after a week's absence. He also took his regular chapel Tuesday. Mr. Simpson has sustained the loss of his mother, and attended her funeral the week before last. On his way back he also attended a Youth For Christ convention. His teaching and chapel messages are appreciated by the students and their expressions of appreciation is sincere and often expressed.

Friday night was a time of real fellowship and mingling of faculty and students of the first two years. For the last three years the juniors of the college have planned such an evening, and this year it was held in the dining room. As they gathered the faculty into the room each one was aware of loving hands having arranged beautiful decorations, artistically arranged.

Mr. Lavern Traub is convener of the decorating committee for the juniors and expressed his sincere appreciation for his good committee and the work they did. Miss Addie Takana, junior class president, shared the honors of the evening with the vice-president, Mr. Stewart Flinn, as they presented the program. Games were arranged by Miss Alene Wolfe and Miss Owen Brade. Special numbers in song, and with musical instruments were given by students. Mr. Leonard DeWitt brought the devotions.

The superb lunch was tastefully arranged on a table. Miss Margaret McGinnis was convener of the food committee and she and her helpers are to be congratulated on the lunch provided. President Taylor expressed sincere appreciation for all the juniors did for the faculty.

Rev. W. D. Annett was guest speaker at chapel on Friday morning. The students look forward to his coming the first Friday of each month.

Christmas will soon be here, and even on campus there is an air of anticipation as students are making reservations on trains or phoning home to see who will come for them. A few will remain here, but we know that each one will have a happy season. School will resume December 30th and convene again on December 30th.

NEW HELP FOR ASTHMA VICTIMS

A new liquid medication called Elitophillin, may replace the old needle injection in relieving severe attacks of asthma. Taken internally by the patient himself, this new treatment is reported to give relief within five minutes. It has been found to be safe for both children and adults.

LIGHT YOUR WAY WITH BIBLE STUDY

For centuries the following Scripture section has been quoted in Christian churches on the Sunday before Christmas: "Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice. Let your moderation be known to all men. The Lord is at hand. . . . And the peace of God which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." These essential ingredients of the true Christmas spirit are listed by the great Apostle: Joy, Moderation, and Peace.

The joy of which the Apostle speaks is, of course, the "joy in the Lord". During the present days it is the unbounded gladness which is ours in the "comings of great joy" that unto us is born a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord, the God-with-us, the Emmanuel.

Will Christmas day find that holy joy in our hearts and homes? or only in our hymn books? Will Christmas morning find us ill-composed at the breakfast table, at odds with husband or wife, father or mother, brother or sister? Preved and pouty? Will our Christmas joy stop with the opening of the last Christmas present?

No, the true joy of Christmas must be reflected in our lives. It must find expression over the coffee cups at breakfast, in our attitude and conversation in the family circle, in our casual contacts with our fellow men.

True Christmas joy is something which can not be shut up in one corner of our heart where it will have no influence upon our thoughts and words and actions. It is a warm and glowing, a radiant thing. It clamors for expression. "My heart for very joy doth leap, my lips no more can silence keep," say Luther.

Let us open our hearts to the full joy of Christmas, and then let us realize the warmth, the cheer, the gladness which is ours.

More than 90 per cent of tuberculosis in Canada is pulmonary TB, which is tuberculosis of the lungs, but the disease can attack all parts of the body.

Notes From D.A.
By HOWARD J. FULCHER

The cost of producing and putting a hog on the market can vary greatly. In many cases little financial returns are obtained while in other cases satisfactory profits are realized. The type of pig, the feeding program, the market condition all affect the monetary returns.

One item which has a large effect and can often be improved by good management is the number of weaned pigs per litter. When you consider a sow will consume about 60 bushels of grain in a year it is quite a charge against each pig she raises. If the litter is small the charge per pig is naturally higher; this feed cost, combined with other items of labor, buildings, breeding stock, etc., makes it imperative to get satisfactory litters if profit is to be obtained.

Pregnant sows should be well fed, provided a good balanced ration; this will require mineral and protein supplementation. The sows should have comfortable quarters and should be forced to exercise by feeding some distance from their sleeping pens during pregnancy.

Many litters are small and weak, some complete losses, from lack of iodine in the sow's feed. This shows up in young pigs as weak, unthrifty, and in severe cases, hairlessness. There is no cure, prevention is a simple matter: it is the feeding of potassium iodine. The procedure is to feed potassium iodine by dissolving one ounce in one gallon of water and giving the sow one tablespoon of this solution in her feed each day. The solution can be made seven times stronger and fed at the rate of one tablespoon per week.

If the sow's feed is good and suitable farrowing pens are provided with reasonable care and management, a sow should wean eight or more healthy pigs per litter.
